At the outset, I would like to thank you all for reposing faith in me as the head, CII Uttar Pradesh for the year 2009-10. During this year CII Uttar Pradesh carried forward the theme 'Growth in Challenging Times', which was reflected in all the activities undertaken.

The year has been a challenging one for the Indian Industry with the downturn. Several sectors such as real estate, petroleum imports, cement, steel, auto and exports were badly affected. Small businesses also bore the brunt.

But the silver lining was the domestic market, particularly the rural market which remained relatively strong. Fortunately, the crisis has now receded and Indian services & manufacturing sector is penetrating the global markets once again.

In retrospect, all our endeavors were in consonance with the state's objective towards salvaging growth in the global recessionary period and facilitating economic growth as an active partner with the state government harnessing the state's immense potential.

The year saw a number of interactive sessions with key government officials. CII continued to be represented on major working groups and advisory boards of the state government like the Tripartite Labor Committee, Council of Science and Technology (IPR Division), Environment Policy Committee, National Climate Change Response Knowledge Mission and State Steering Committee of Technical & Professional Education.

Sugar Tech 09 was timely & much relevant for the beleaguered sugar industry. All stakeholders including the sugar industry, farmers, experts and the state government together were present at a common platform to discuss and work out a good package for the farmers in light of the shorter seasons in the sugar industry. I am particularly pleased to share that this led to many strategic decisions and several initiatives to ride the sugar industry out of trouble times.

CII Uttar Pradesh worked to preserve the traditional heritage and art of the state. To save the Intellectual Property Protection of identified Geographical Indications of UP, CII signed an MOU with the Export Promotion Bureau, Government of Uttar Pradesh for facilitating the GI registration of six products in Uttar Pradesh including Locks of Aligarh, Sports Goods of Meerut, Patchworks of Rampur, Kababs of Lucknow and Petha, Dalmot & Marble Work of Agra.

The State Council facilitated the working of 11 ITIs, adopted in the recent past at various locations. The Council also facilitated Modular Employable Skills Scheme (MES) under the national Skills Development Initiative (SDI) to help school drop-outs and shop-floor workers. Over 1500 Vocational Training Providers (VTPs) have been established providing training in a variety of skills across the state.

6th Northern Regional Council was organised in Lucknow, CII Uttar Pradesh was fortunate and happy to host the colourful evening Shaam -E- Awadh graced by His Excellency Mr BL Joshi, Governor of Uttar Pradesh.

Tree plantation drives, water management and HIV / AIDS awareness were high on agenda this year.

Our future activities need to keep up the momentum on key areas like enhancing employment, tourism, infrastructure, agriculture, food processing and creating conducive environment for the growth of industry in the state.

I am sure that the CII Uttar Pradesh State Council 2010-11 would carry forward the initiatives taken this year and contribute positively to the inclusive development of Uttar Pradesh.

Sugar Tech 2009: "Shorter Seasons in Sugar Industry - Opportunities & Challenges"

September 30, 2009: Lucknow

With the objective to review the substantial fall in the production of sugar in the state, assess challenges & opportunities and arrive at meaningful solutions to benefit the farmers, industry and the government, CII Uttar Pradesh organized a one day conference on "Shorter Seasons in Sugar Industry – Opportunities & Challenges - Sugar Tech 2009".

Welcoming the participants, Mr Ramesh Suri, Chairman, CII Uttar Pradesh asserted the aim said "we are here to ensure that the Indian Sugar Industry finds its place in the sun again". Further he brought to the notice, the issues faced by the farmers relating to their sizeable chunk of money not being cleared by the sugar factories and delay in announcing the levy price by the government, which ultimately leave farmers distressed.

Mr Atul Kumar Gupta, Chief Secretary and Chief Guest for the session felt that in the current situation, it is pertinent to look at long term measures and addressed the needs of the most important state holder: the farmer. He suggested for a loyalty bonus system or fixed cane price for two years, which can be introduced for maintaining a long term relationship between industry and farmer.

The technical sessions of Sugar Tech 09 included a session on agriculture to address issues in Sugarcane Development and Marketing. The other sessions were on CEO's perspective on industry issues and on engineering & technology to share best practices in sugar & allied industries. The conference saw participation of over 150 delegates from sugar and allied sectors from different parts of Uttar Pradesh and the NCR region.

Intellectual property protection of identified Geographical Indications of UP

The state of Uttar Pradesh is endowed with variety of traditional art, process and products which are exclusive to the state's heritage and culture.

Geographical Indication (GI) is one form of Intellectual Property Protection which can protect these intangible assets for identity and reputation in the National and International Market. In due course, with proper enforcement mechanism these GIs can provide business opportunities and Wealth Creation to the end users that are artisans, weavers and craftsman. The GI can also be commercially leveraged for enhancing incomes of such artisans while providing assurance of product quality to consumers.

With this perspective, Export Promotion Bureau, Government of Uttar Pradesh invited CII Uttar Pradesh State Office to sign a Memorandum of Understanding, for facilitating the GI registration of six products in Uttar Pradesh. These products include Locks of Aligarh, Sports goods of Meerut, Patchworks of Rampur, Kababs of Lucknow and Petha, Dalmot & Marble Work of Agra.

CII Uttar Pradesh State Office has initiated this project in association with Andhra Pradesh Technology Development and Promotion Center (APTDC).
